During FY17, SIL LEAD participated as a subcontractor on ten language development projects funded by USAID. SIL LEAD continued its work in Ethiopia and Nepal as a subcontractor to RTI International and in Afghanistan as a subcontractor to Creative Associates International. In addition, SIL LEAD began work on two new projects: a four-year project in Senegal with Chemonics International and a two-year project in Ghana with FHI360. SIL LEAD also participated as a subcontractor on several shorter-term and multi-year fixed price contracts funded by USAID involving work with Chemonics International, RTI International, Creative Associates International, the International Rescue Committee, and University Research Co. Each of these projects is designed to support the corresponding Ministries of Education in their efforts to improve the quality of education in their nations. SIL LEAD's involvement in these projects generally involves technical assistance in curriculum review, evaluation, and design; policy review and support; enhancement of local capacity through training and consultation; development and production of instructional materials; the training of writers, teachers, and trainers; and facilitation and support of workshops in each of these areas. International Community-Based Programs ($9,727): SIL LEAD has a vision to assist community-based organizations in their language development efforts through charitable donations received on their behalf. Fundraising for a pilot project in Peru began in 2015 and the first transfer of funds to our Peruvian partner took place later that year. To date, these funds have been used to provide 21 scholarships to indigenous teachers and aspiring teachers who are committed to teaching children in their own language. All funds raised for this pilot project have now been committed to individual scholarships and disbursements will continue during FY18. In 2017, SIL LEAD began to invest more heavily to further develop this type of work and hired a Community-Based Program Director to lead these efforts. In 2017 relationships were established with a non-profit organization in northern Ghana working in early childhood education. After agreements were formalized, disbursements began in FY18 to support this mother tongue based multilingual education effort impacting almost 1,600 pupils in 50 rural schools. Ongoing conversations with additional community based organizations that share SIL LEAD's mission and vision are underway to identify other potential partners. To support such community-based programs, SIL LEAD is strengthening its fundraising from individual donors and SIL LEAD continued to develop and promote its capacity to provide Bloom training workshops and support. To this end, SIL LEAD has continued to work on developing Bloom training materials, Bloom trainer certification curricula, additional localization, and to provide training and support to projects using Bloom. In FY17, SIL LEAD also expended funds on pro bono work related to Bloom software and collaboration in the Global Book Alliance. With regard to Bloom, SIL LEAD provided training and facilitation without charge in the use of Bloom to USAID headquarters staff. Service was also provided to a local community college as part of a student service activity using Bloom software to develop books. The Executive Director also donated considerable time to the coordination of a Technical Working Group of the Global Book Alliance.
